

Juego de oso hormiguero gigante

Mueve cualquier casilla de desafío	? What do anteaters, sloths and armadillos have in common? 	Name the two countries in South America which are landlocked (completely surrounded by land). 	Name a South American food. Try to choose a different food each time someone lands on this square.	Find out how to say 'South America' in Spanish.
? Does the giant anteater only eat ants? 	<table border="1"> <thead> <tr> <th>English</th> <th>Spanish</th> <th>Ants</th> </tr> </thead> <tbody> <tr> <td>six</td> <td>seis</td> <td>treinta mil hormigas</td> </tr> <tr> <td>five</td> <td>cinco</td> <td>tres mil hormigas</td> </tr> <tr> <td>four</td> <td>cuatro</td> <td>trescientos hormigas</td> </tr> <tr> <td>three</td> <td>tres</td> <td>treinta hormigas</td> </tr> <tr> <td>two</td> <td>dos</td> <td>tres hormigas</td> </tr> <tr> <td>one</td> <td>uno</td> <td>una hormiga</td> </tr> </tbody> </table> When a challenge is completed, move counter up one slot. 			English	Spanish	Ants	six	seis	treinta mil hormigas	five	cinco	tres mil hormigas	four	cuatro	trescientos hormigas	three	tres	treinta hormigas	two	dos	tres hormigas	one	uno	una hormiga	¡Te toca otra vez!
English	Spanish	Ants
six	seis	treinta mil hormigas
five	cinco	tres mil hormigas
four	cuatro	trescientos hormigas
three	tres	treinta hormigas
two	dos	tres hormigas
one	uno	una hormiga
Name a famous person from South America. Try to choose a different person each time someone lands on this square.				Name a Spanish speaking South American country. Try to choose a different country each time someone lands on this square.
Find out what 'especies en peligro' means. 				Mueve cualquier casilla de desafío
? Giant anteaters are endangered. Find out about the threats to the giant anteaters. 				Find out how to introduce yourself in Spanish. For example 'Hello, my name is...'
Name an animal that lives in South America Try to choose a different animal each time someone lands on this square.				? Do you think giant anteaters have: A. really good sense of smell and poor eyesight B. really good eyesight and poor sense of smell
¡Te toca otra vez!	Make and decorate a South American rainstick. 	? There are four different species of anteater all living in South America. Name them. 	Say one of the numbers written on this game board in Spanish. Try to choose a different number each time someone lands on this square.	Empezar

How quickly can you help the giant anteater find all the ants he would eat in one day.

The game can be played as a group.

At the start, place the counter on the circle which holds one ant. Place the playing piece on the Start square.

Roll the dice and move the playing piece the number of spaces required. Follow instructions or answer the questions.

Each time the group completes an anteater challenge, represented by  the counter can move up one slot.

The aim is to complete all the challenges so that the counter reaches 30,000 ants.

If the playing piece lands on a challenge already completed, continue play.

If the playing piece lands on a question already completed, either repeat answers to reinforce or continue play.

The 'naming' squares are designed to be landed on a number of times and players are encouraged to think of a different answer each time.