

mammal mamal

Body Covering	hair or fur
Breathing	lungs
Babies	live birth

There are 3 egg laying mammals that live in Australia and New Guinea – the platypus, short nosed and long nosed echidna.

water vole

famhalan-uisge

bird eun

Body Covering	feathers
Breathing	lungs
Babies	hard shelled eggs

puffin

buthaid

reptile

snàgair

Body Covering	dry scales
Breathing	lungs
Babies	soft shelled eggs

There are a few snakes and lizards that give birth to live young and some that appear to give birth but actually the eggs hatch inside mum.

adder

asg

amphibian    muir-thìreach

Body Covering

nothing
(just plain skin)

Breathing

lungs when adult;
gills when young

Babies

jelly - like eggs

There are a few amphibians which live in water and have gills all of their life.

natterjack toad

cnàdan

fish iasg

Body Covering	wet scales
Breathing	gills
Babies	jelly - like eggs

brown trout

breac-donn