Panda Senses

The five senses are hearing, seeing, smelling, tasting and touching.

耳朵

Circle the parts of the panda that are used for hearing.

Pandas have super hearing. They can hear sounds that humans could not possibly hear. They honk, bark, bleat and chirp to communicate.
Panda Senses

The five senses are hearing, seeing, smelling, tasting and touching.

眼睛

Circle the parts of the panda that are used for seeing.

Pandas don’t have very large eyes for the size of their head so their sight is not as good as their other senses. They have some colour vision and can tell if something is coloured compared to being a shade of grey.
Panda Senses

The five senses are hearing, seeing, smelling, tasting and touching.

鼻子

Circle the part of the panda that is used for smelling.

Pandas have an excellent sense of smell. Smell is the main way that pandas communicate with each other and is very important for when male pandas want to meet up with female pandas.
Panda Senses

The five senses are hearing, seeing, smelling, tasting and touching.

嘴巴

Circle the part of the panda that is used for tasting.

Pandas love to eat bamboo. They always know which bamboo is the most delicious and which part of the bamboo plant is the best to eat in different seasons. In any season, their favourite is bamboo shoots.
Panda Senses

The five senses are hearing, seeing, smelling, tasting and touching.

Circle the part of the panda that is usually used for touch.

Pandas can feel things through their skin just like us. They also mainly use their hands and feet to touch, feel and hold things. Pandas have a kind of sixth finger on their front paws to help grip their bamboo.